Searching Mining Annual Review 2001

If you are running Adobe Acrobat 4® with the Acrobat Search® plug-in, then you can search all of the articles in Mining Annual Review 2000 at the same time. If you do not have the search plug-in, re-install Adobe Acrobat 4 ® from this CD (CD:\Acrobat\Setup.exe). Click on the Search button on the toolbar; this will bring up the search dialog box. To search for an individual word, enter it and click search. If you wish to search for more than one word, enter them using standard boolean separators such as 'and' and 'or'. To search for strings of words, group them using quotation marks (" ").

The results of your search will be displayed in order of relevance (measured by the number of times that the search words appear). To view an article, double click on its listing. The search words will be highlighted on the page. To move on to other hits, use the next or previous highlight button on the toolbar, or to look at the search results again, click search results.
Search   Previous/Next Highlight   Search Results

Search Dialog

Search results